ARMSTRONG SUES FOR $5,000

James Armstrong, Southern Pacific brakeman, who was arrested on September 8, charged with grand larceny, yesterday received notice that the charge against him had been withdrawn, and today the young man's attorney is busy drawing the papers for an action to be commenced against Detective Cordon and the Southern Pacific company, charging false imprisonment and false prosecution and asking for damages for $5,000.

The brakeman claims he was held simply on suspicion and the filmsiest kind of a pretext and was confined in jail four days without a charge being placed against him, and then not until habeas corpus proceedings were instituted.

FORGER IS CAUGHT BY OFFICERS

Sheriff J. T. Morrarity of Green River, Wyo., arrived in Ogden this morning to take into custody J. A. Hansen, who was arrested yesterday by Jailer H. Anderson at the Fair grounds. Hansen is charged with being a forger and was arrested on information from the Green River authorities.

A description of the man was sent to the local police yesterday morning, as it was thought that the man might be here attending the Four-State fair. The fact that the man is a cripple made his identification easy, and when seen in the afternoon by Officer Anderson he was recognized as the wanted man.

Hansen is an old criminal who has served time in number of prisons. On August 20 he passed a bogus check for $25 with a Green River merchant. This act, according to Sheriff Morrarity, was committed just ten days after the man's release from the Wyoming penitentiary, where he had just completed a term for a similar forgery.

CHARGES AGAINST YOUNG TURNER

County Attorney David Jensen is drawing a complaint against Walter Turner, charging him with grand larceny, the young man to be arraigned in the municipal court.

Turner is the 18-year-old boy who recently entered into a general stealing of horses throughout the country, confessing the thefts after he was arrested. It is claimed by the officers that they have discovered no fewer than half a dozen cases of grand larceny against the boy.

Young Turner is the son of John Turner, who, with his family, about a year ago, emigrated to Canada as an undesirable citizen. Canada being his native country and he not being a citizen of the United States. The boy was deported with his father, but he would not remain in Canada. He returned to this country and, it seems, has since been in the horse

CHRONIC ULCERS INDICATE BAD BLOOD

Where the blood is pure any wound or laceration of the flesh heals "by first intention." This is true because nature has provided a constituent to the circulation known as Plasma, which joins and holds the place together until the fibres and tissues can permanently knit and interweave. Whenever the ulcer becomes chronic it is because this healing quality of the blood has been impaired by some impurity in the circulation, and the place remains open, infecting all surrounding flesh, until the character of the circulation is changed. No sore can heal where the blood is bad; because the morbid impurities on which it thrives are constantly deposited into it by the hardened circulation. Cleanse the blood and the sore will heal of its own accord, because then its very source and foundation will have been destroyed. S. S. S. cures Chronic Ulcers of every kind for the one great reason that it thoroughly purifies the blood. It goes into the circulation and removes every particle of infectious or morbid matter, enriches the corpuscles, and assists nature in the formation of the necessary plastic qualities of this vital fluid. No matter from what source the impurities of the blood came, S. S. S. will remove them. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

business. There is a question as to whether the boy is a subject for deportation at this time.

NEW YORK'S GOVERNOR.

Charles S. Francis of Troy and Speaker Wadsworth of Albany, the assembly to escort Mr. Root to the chair.

There was a loud laugh when Col. Roosevelt started to leave the platform without introducing Senator Root. Senator Gleason hustled after the Colonel and brought him back.

"As I understand you may not identify the man I am about to introduce, I called back to present the permanent chairman of the convention, the Hon. Elihu Root," said Col. Roosevelt.

"No prepared slate of which I have heard bore my name for permanent chairman and no prepared speech lurks in my pocket or in my hand," said the senator.

The chairman said there were passing over the entire country revivings against the time-worn form of political organization.

"Initiative and referendum, recall, direct election of senators, direct nominations," said the chairman, "are all evidence that the people of our country feel that our forms of political organization are inadequate to furnish the voters of our political parties means to give effect to their political will."

prehension of public questions and unflinching and unswerving adherence to duty.

He has strengthened our prestige with foreign nations and treated with vigor and wisdom important international problems, notably our tariff relations with Germany, France and Canada.

Under his administration, the prosecution of those implicated in the sugar and other customs frauds have been continued and convictions obtained; there have been impartial and energetic enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust act; a substantial reduction of governmental expense; the establishment of a better business method, which will result in greater efficiency and real economy; remarkable progress in the construction of the Panama canal and the withdrawal from private entry of over 71,000,000 acres of the public domain, to preserve for public benefit, valuable and other mineral deposits, timber land and water power sites.

On his recommendation, congress has provided for a commission to investigate and report on the regulations of the issuance of stocks and bonds by public service corporations engaged in interstate commerce. He has advocated a new system of appropriations for river and harbor improvements, under which each item, after investigation by experts, shall be approved and carried to completion as a separate matter. This recommendation we heartily endorse.

The Tariff.

The Payne tariff law reduced the average rate of all duties eleven per cent. By increasing the duties on some luxuries and articles not of ordinary use, making, however, no increase on any common food product, it turned a national deficit into a surplus. Under its first year of operation, the value of imports free of duty was the greatest in our history by $109,000,000, and the average rate of duty was less than under the Wilson law. Unlike that Democratic law, its great reductions of duty have not stopped in industry nor deprived labor of any part of its hire. It gives free trade with the Philippine islands and it establishes a customs court. Its maximum and minimum rates give us for the first time equality of opportunity with other nations in our foreign trade.

In providing, upon the suggestion of President Taft, for a tariff board, it affords the means of still more accurately determining the difference in cost of production at home and abroad.

A Republican congress is necessary to provide needed appropriations for this board and to assure business and labor that changes in rates will be made only to equalize the difference in cost of production and not to reduce rates to the free trade or purely revenue basis favored by the Democratic party.

Advances in the cost of living are only the local reflection of a tendency that is world-wide and cannot be truthfully said to be due to the present tariff.

The Congress.

The congress has responded to recommendations of the president by enacting measures of far-reaching importance to the people, including valuable amendments to the interstate commerce law, a postal savings bank law, a law providing for the publicity of campaign expenses, the creation of a bureau of mines with a view to the better protection of mine workers, laws extending the regulation of safety appliances and the laws providing a method by which the surface of our lands and other mineral lands is made available for agricultural use, while conserving the minerals under the surface for the public benefit.

The Courts.

The test of civilization is an orderly and efficient government, one of the essentials of which is a judiciary of upright, able, industrious, courageous men promptly administering the law to rich and poor alike without fear or favor and protecting the individual in his rights and liberties against the injustice of the mob, as well as against the greed of the powerful. We count it fortunate that the president has secured as a member of our highest tribunal, a man with the greatest intellect and the splendid legal attainments of Charles E. Hughes.

Governor Hughes' Administration.

We congratulate the people on the notable progress of the state under the four years' administration of Governor Hughes, which has been conspicuous for the highest standards of efficiency. He has appealed to the conscience and intelligence of the people and championed legislation demanded by the moral sense of the community. Through his wise recommendations and the efficient action of a Republican legislature, the public service corporations in the state of New York have been successfully taken out of politics by being placed under commissions of high character; laws have been passed extending the corrupt practices act to primaries, providing for a more scientific method of making up the state budget, providing for the licensing and regulation of motor vehicle traffic, strengthening the provisions against race track gambling, providing for reforesting the forest reserve and for better protection against forest fires, and making the insurance and banking laws more effective. The increases in the cost of administering the state reflects the higher standard of care of the firm, the insane and the dependent, the extension and increased efficiency of the public school system; the instalments for the barge canal, sinking fund and the systematic building and maintenance of state highways.

Record and Capital.

The record of Republican legislation during the last eighteen years, conserving the public interest by improving the condition of labor, is unequalled in our history. One hundred and sixty such enactments were written in our statutes, covering the whole range of labor interests in the workshops, factories, mines and quarries and upon all forms of public work.

We are proud to record that New York has been the first American state to provide by law for the compulsory compensation of employees sustaining personal injury while performing or following extra hazardous occupations and also to equalize voluntary agreement as to compensation between employers and employees in all other occupations.

We commend the law of last winter, which requires that all accidents in building construction and engineering work be reported to the commissioner of labor.

We commend the creation of the department of the bureau of industries and immigration. We believe that capital, honestly employed, should be permitted to feel that sense of security essential to stimulate its legitimate investment and thus safeguard the prosperity which has been so well established under Republican administration.

Agriculture.

We believe that the encouragement of agriculture and the betterment of country life are vital to the future of the state. Great areas of productive lands now idle should be brought under cultivation. Knowledge of modern farming methods should be widely disseminated throughout the state. Under Republican legislatures, large sums have been appropriated for the extension of facilities for agricultural education, for preventing the spread of diseases of animals and for the eradication of pests. We pledge ourselves to the continuance of this vital work and to the support of all practical methods of increasing the number of farm owners and furthering their interests.

We believe that an important aid to the agricultural interests of the state is the New York State Fair and in a continuance of the policy which is making this exhibition a means of education for the farmer and productive of the greatest good.

Conservation.

In the interests of the growth and prosperity of the state, we favor the conservation, development and utilization of all our natural resources under conditions, however, which will protect and safeguard the rights of the state.

We favor such regulation of our riv-

Preventing Primary Frauds.

We believe that the same safeguards should surround primary elections as have been shown to be effective in preventing repeating and frauds at general elections. We therefore favor extending the signature law as now applied to general elections, to primary elections.

To Governor Hughes is due the credit
